

Erin Steffe is a very bright and talented filmmaker who is also a pleasure to work with.

Erin is intelligent, self-motivated and mature. She's adept at shooting and editing, but before any of that happens, she's able to look at a project and its goals on a higher level and come up with new ideas and suggestions for improvement.

Erin is confident in her abilities. She listens. Her focus is on the project and doing it well. She's easy to work with and she works hard. The video that results is excellent.

Sara Barton

Writer, Editor, In-house Video Producer

Children's Hospital of Philadelphia